Hepatitis B Virus (HBV) Perinatal Exposure Follow-up by CIA, Panel

ARUP test code 2014285

Hepatitis B Surface Antigen

Positive * (Ref Interval: Negative)

The HBsAg screening test is strongly reactive. Therefore, confirmatory testing is not necessary but is available upon request. False positives can occur. If the result is not supported by clinical evidence, repeat testing of a new sample usually helps clarify the diagnosis.

INTERPRETIVE INFORMATION: Hepatitis B Surface Ag

This assay should not be used for blood donor screening, associated re-entry protocols, or for screening Human Cells, Tissues and Cellular and Tissue-Based Products (HCT/P).

Hepatitis B Surface Antibody

<3.10 IU/L

The anti-HBs is less than 10 IU/L and is therefore negative. There is no evidence of recovery from hepatitis B infection or evidence of antibody response to HBV vaccination.

An anti-HBs result greater than or equal to 10 IU/L implies immunity. For post-vaccination antibody testing guidelines for the general public refer to MMWR December 23, 2005/Vol. 54(No. 16);1-23, and for healthcare workers refer to MMWR December 20, 2013/Vol. 62(No. 10);1-19.

Reference Interval: anti-HBs
9.99 IU/L or less Negative
10.00 IU/L or greater Positive
Results greater than 1,000.00 IU/L are reported as greater than 1,000.00 IU/L.

Hepatitis B Panel Interp

See Note

The result pattern of the HBsAg and anti-HBs is consistent with one of two clinical scenarios: (1) HBV infection or (2) a false positive HBsAg due to a recent vaccination. Depending on clinical findings, testing on a new specimen for HBsAg, anti-HBs, and anti-HBc may be useful.
